Hybrid Conference Event

Virtual Clinical Track – May 2

Eastern Virginia Medical School - Lester Hall

651 Colley Avenue • Norfolk, VA 23507

CONFERENCE OVERVIEW:

Youth mental health and well-being continues to be of major concern in our community and across the nation. To address this crisis we must invest in our most vulnerable population, our children, and provide support, resources, and services that are accessible to everyone.

National and local mental health experts will gather to discuss a variety of topics to address the youth mental health crisis. Clinicians, community and school professionals, and caregivers will have an opportunity to learn about the state of Virginia’s youth mental health and the resources available, understand intersectional identities and suicide, assess the impact of social media on suicide, and navigate the VMAP system and community resources. Additionally, clinicians will learn about depression screenings and recommended primary care strategies, while the community track will provide a session on recognizing, supporting, and referring a person in need of professional support.
