FACULTY DISCLOSURE:
It is the policy of the Icahn School of Medicine at Mount Sinai to ensure objectivity, balance, independence, transparency, and scientific rigor in all CME-provided educational activities. All faculty participating in the planning or implementation of a provided activity are expected to disclose to the audience any relevant financial relationships and to assist in resolving any conflict of interest that may arise from the relationship. Presenters must also make a meaningful disclosure to the audience of their discussions of unlabeled or unapproved drugs or devices. This information will be available as part of the course materials.
COURSE DESCRIPTION
This program is designed to provide a targeted overview of the initial triage and management of the injured patient for physicians and other allied health professionals involved in the care of the trauma patient.

EDUCATIONAL OBJECTIVES
At the conclusion of this activity, participants will be able to:

- Recognize and treat injury patterns unique to victims of blast injury
- Identify resources to improve readiness for mass casualty events and disasters at the personal and systemic levels
- Recognize resource limitations likely to be encountered in a mass casualty incident and the effects on standard practice patterns and goals of care
- Define factors in local, national, and international disaster preparedness and different providers' roles within these systems

TARGET AUDIENCE
This conference is designed for surgeons, emergency medicine physicians, intensivists, nurse practitioners, physician assistants, nurses, house staff, medical staff and first responders.

ACCREDITATION
The Icahn School of Medicine at Mount Sinai is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

CREDIT DESIGNATION
The Icahn School of Medicine at Mount Sinai designates this live activity for a maximum of 6.25 AMA PRA Category 1 Credit(s)™. Physicians should claim only the credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

VERIFICATION OF ATTENDANCE
Verification of attendance will be provided to all professionals.
