CME supported by: The V.A. Davidson Memorial Lectureship funded by the Dr. V.A. and Earline Davidson Fund of Communities Foundation of Texas.
This conference is designed for physicians, advanced practice nurses, physician assistants, nurses and allied health professionals involved in the screening, diagnosis and treatment of women’s health issues. There is a need to review and discuss current guidelines for screening mammography; imaging modalities for breast cancer screening; background and history of hormone treatment; peripartum depression risk factors and mortality/morbidity; and types of maternal-fetal conflicts.

Conference Objectives

Upon completion of this conference, the participants should be able to:

- Review current guidelines for screening mammography.
- Review additional imaging modalities for breast cancer screening.
- Describe the surgical options for treating breast cancer.
- Discuss adjuvant options for treating breast cancer.
- Discuss the background and history of hormone treatment.
- Describe the benefits and risks of hormone treatment.
- Review peripartum depression, including risk factors and mortality/morbidity.
- Identify and evaluate peripartum depression.
- Describe basic treatment strategies for peripartum depression.
- Describe the basic concepts of ethical decision making in medicine.
- Review the types of maternal-fetal conflicts.
- Discuss ethical approaches to conflict resolution.
